Big GeoSensing Data Ecosystem: Theory, Processing & Application

An international event aims to provide an opportunity for students and young researchers to listen to lectures from various eminent experts within the field of remote sensing, photogrammetry and geospatial information sciences. Participants are expected to gain knowledge from a series of lecture, practical sessions and excursion at a minimum cost. Besides that, it is an international platform of collaboration among students, young researchers, experts and the industry to provide a bigger perspective of the profession as well as to establish relationships within the scientific community and the industry.

Theme and Program:

Lectures on the topic related to big geosensing data ecosystem will be delivered by prominent professors and experts in the field and will be accompanied by practical sessions. The lectures are including:

- * Big Geo-Data: Challenges and Future
- * Big Geo-Data in Earth Observation
- * Big Geo-Data in Smart City: Geospatial Challenges
- * Big Geo-Data in Disaster Management
- * Tools for Big Geo-Data Analytics
- * User-generated Big Geo-Data: Terrestrial Laser Scanning

Deadlines:

- * Application Submission: September 15th, 2018
- * Notification of Acceptance: September 20th, 2018
- * Full Payment for Registration: October 5th, 2018

Registration Fee:

- * International Participant: USD 100; Local Participant: MYR 390
- * The registration fee including local transportation, accommodation (single room), meal (three meal per day), lecture materials and excursion.
- * For telegraphic transfer, any charges incurred have to be borne by the remitter
